These two collections, though general in their character, have much that is interesting and desirable to recommend them, and are worthy of the attention of numismatists throughout the country. The Catalogue has been made by a gentleman in no way interested, and who will not be benefited by what may be realized. He has endeavored to be accurate in description, and the statement of condition has been made with the desire to be just alike to owners and purchasers.

All pieces not otherwise described, are in good condition.
